OUR DAYS AT WESTERN CAROLINA

We hope the 1942 CATAMOUNT will become a treasure and ever keep fresh in our memories the happy days spent at Western Carolina.

We have sought to preserve the vivid pictures which are a part of our four years here, from the time we rounded the curve as freshmen and caught the first view of our college home till the day we were handed our coveted sheepskins.

In a world of warring nations, lost ideals, and shattered dreams, may this year book serve as an elevating force when you, in retrospect, glance on your days spent at Western Carolina Teachers College.

A reminder of our campus life—of the good times, the friendships, and growth during our stay here.

WESTERN CAROLINA UNIVERSITY
Accession 10?408 Class

To CARL DAN KILLIAN, Ph. D.

SCHOLAR, EDUCATOR, GENTLEMAN

For untiring efforts to enhance and expand the educational service of Western Carolina Teachers College to the youth of North Carolina; for undivided and unselfish devotion to these services; for the Guidance Clinic which, under his careful nurturing has become one of the most vital educational forces of the college; for passion for public service, never overshadowed by personal ambition; for loyalty; for nobility of character . . .

We gratefully dedicate this volume of THE CATAMOUNT to our friend, Dr. Killian.

PRESIDENT HIRAM T. HUNTER

Portrait presented by the class of '45, faculty, college employees, and admiring friends.

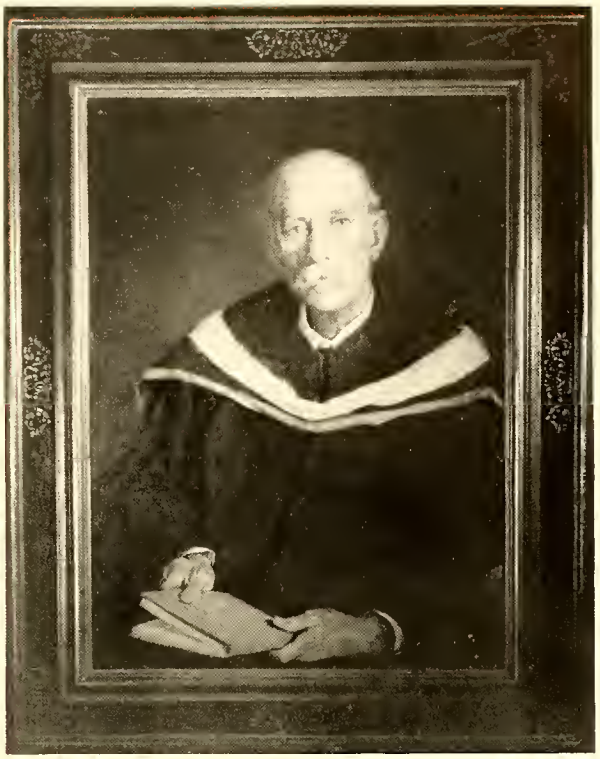
To know a truly great character is to love him. To know President Hunter is to know one whose character combines so many elements of a superior kind that one must love him though he has difficulty in analyzing his greatness. Intellect, breadth of interest, versatility of talent—all these are attributes. But it is his sympathetic interest in others and his understanding of their problems that make his greatness of soul more apparent and our love for him more real than any other quality to be found. His varied experiences as president of the College for nineteen years and as governor of the Nineteenth District of Rotary International for the past year have made him not only a broader personality but a kindlier, more intensely human individual. His democratic philosophy, which he daily lives, is as contagious as his personality is magnetic.

In June of this year, Wake Forest College, his alma mater, will confer upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Congratulations, Doctor Hunter!

Through the initial suggestion and untiring efforts of Mrs. Lillian B. Buchanan these three portraits of our college presidents were made possible. The paintings are by Wilford S. Conrow of Carnegie Hall, New York. They now hang in the Student Union Building.

President Emeritus Robert Lee Madison



Portrait presented by the class of 1941, alumni and devoted friends.

Founded Western Carolina Teachers College, August, 1889, and served as its president until 1912, and from 1920 to 1923.

The Burmese ruby background of the portrait, which represents the birth of color, memorializes the birth of an idea --the founding of a college; the open book and the hood symbolize the learning the wearer dispensed for years; the whole, a "memorial and a biography of the founder with the open book."

A scholar, a gentleman, an educator; the embodiment of the spirit of service to North Carolina which is the soul of Western Carolina Teachers College.

Alonzo C. Reynolds President 1912-1920

Portrait presented by the class of 1942, Mr. W. D. Flintom, the Reynolds Family and friends.

A true Christian and a genuine patriot, a teacher of rare ability, a born leader among men, a friend loyal as a brother, Alonzo C. Reynolds has rendered a signal service as an educator, and has achieved an enduring name and a merited fame among the people whom he has served.

BOOK ONE

"Our Leaders"

Our progress during our four years of college life has been guided and promoted by our friends—the administration, the faculty, and the student leaders.

We appreciate their interest in building for us a greater Western Carolina, in bestowing upon us knowledge ranging from the Principle of Archimedes to Physical Fitness 500 A and B, and in making it possible for us to live as democratic citizens.

And so we present our leaders, a group of really fine people who have been interested enough in us to make the path a great deal easier.

BOOK TWO

"From rat days

to Sheepskin"—

"And Now We're Seniors"

Yes, you bet! Remember back in '38 when we were oh such green freshmen . . . quaking with fear when that awfully important upper classman approached?

Then we became the most important people on the hill . . . sophomores. That was a big year . . . fiftieth anniversary celebration with the dedication of our new buildings, barbecues, pep-rallies, banquets and dances.

Time marched on! The fall of '40 rolled around and we became upper classmen . . . at last beginning to realize that all play and no work make a poor P. T.

Then came September again and we were Seniors . . . nothing made us quite so conscious of that as Student Teaching and Conference. But that wasn't so bad . . . things went pretty smoothly till that sunny Sunday on December 7 when our radios brought the terrible news . . . Pearl Harbor! A new atmosphere enveloped our campus . . . Patriotism soared as never before . . . can you ever forget how we stood in the dining hall that night and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and how next day we listened to the President's historic address to Congress?

Yes, now we're Seniors and graduation draws near. (It's a world of turmoil in which to begin our lives . . . But we are unafraid, even proud, to take our place in this chaotic world because here we have acquired the knowledge, courage, and stamina necessary to aid in building a better world.)

1942 SENIORS IN THE SERVICE

Those whose pictures do not appear: Thomas A. Jackson, Army Signal Corps; Mack Fore, Army; Howard McClure Plemmons, Army Air Corps; Claude Jamison, Army; David Stowe, Army; William Crowder, Navy; Joe Hedden, Naval School of Music; Frank Deitz, Marine Corps.

It is with a deep feeling of pride that we dedicate this page to the members of our class, and all other boys from our College, who are now performing their patriotic duty in the armed forces of our great nation. These, our own patriots, have sacrificed their collegiate careers for something greater—something more immediate. They are doing their part toward preserving our particular privileges of freedom and democratic living that we now enjoy; they are engaged in the noble struggle which must ultimately guarantee these things to us. We are grateful to these boys for their unrestricted generosity and courage. They are showing what the youth of America is made of, and we are happy to be behind them in their efforts.

AND PEOPLE

"Next year will be ours"

This year we became upper-upper classmen—and it's really been swell!

Life on the campus has been exciting for us these three years. We began as the largest freshman class in the history of the college. It's easy to remember our Freshman Variety Show and the Soph Clean-up Campaign—but this year we've become financiers—and in a big way!

Hallowe'en Carnival! Square Dances! Bingo Parties! All to add to the jackpot to make the Junior-Senior Banquet the best ever.

It sounds like work; but it's been . . . well, words are superfluous . . .

Next Year will be ours!

"Hail! We're Sophomores"

Yes, the green has worn off, but we still have two more laps to go. And we're sophomores! It isn't that we're proud—just self-confident—now that we don't have to sneak around like the "rats" we once were and warble the strains of the Alma Mater every time an upper classman felt a burst of school spirit and decided that we needed to be reminded of our school loyalty. No, we're not sophisticated—merely glad that we can get a free shoe shine now and then from this year's freshmen, instead of applying the bootblack's art ourselves, as we once did. We've graduated in one year from the state of the oppressed to that of the oppressor. We've tried to be lenient, though, in taking our revenge on our freshmen comrades. Still, there is quite a dignity in saying, "Attention, Freshman!"

Despite the two long years that stretch before us, we can't say we're sorry. They will just be two more glorious years added to the two we have already spent here. Yes, we'll try our best to contribute something as we go along, even if it's no more than our Soph Campus Cleanup Campaign in the Spring Quarter. Remember? It was quite a week, wasn't it? It's a wonderful life and we're going to live it. It's great to be a Sophomore!

"Wearing Off the Green"

We came breezing in . . . the campus was ours for the taking—and we took it . . . for two whole days—Orientation Days. We thought, "If this is college—it's all right!" We discovered Joe's Jip Joint and soon learned the art of loafing like a Senior.

By the end of the second day Cullowhee was ours. But as all good things have to come to an end—so did this. Early the next day the hill was invaded by a group of the most dignified and sophisticated people we had ever seen. To our dismay, Western Carolina did not belong to us, but to those people who called themselves upperclassmen. We were made to bow, to sing, to wear ungodly clothes, to polish shoes; and worst of all we were called "rats".

Can we ever forget the Freshman foot-race at Homecoming; praying for rain—and how it came; Rat Court, and the final pay-off on the steps of Joyner!

But we've been here nearly a year now and we've come a long way. We've taken our places and really feel as if "we belong". Wearing Off the Green wasn't so bad.

THE 1941 GRID SEASON

The shrill blast of a whistle pierced the warm fall afternoon as 40 panting athletes clumped across the green turf of Hunter Field in answer to Coach "Big Jim" Whatley's initial call for football practice for the 1941 season.

Although most of them were first year men, it was a burly outfit with plenty of vim that gathered around the Catamount mentor for the first time as he quickly outlined plans for the forthcoming season.

The season opened with a smashing defeat of Georgia Teachers; then, driving at full speed, the Catamounts tore into the remaining schedule with a determination to win or else.

When the smoke cleared off the battle field two months later, the Cats had completed an eight-game schedule in the most successful season in years. Engaging in four North State conference games and four non-conference games, the Cats emerged with three wins and five losses, two victories in conference scraps and one in a non-conference battle.

Then, once more the pig-skin sphere was deflated and laid on the shelf, awaiting the time when the spotlight is again turned on football.

THE 1942 CAGE SEASON

The spacious new Breese Physical Education Building gleamed with activity as the first call for basketball practice was sent out and twenty-five promising sharpshooters answered Coach "Big Jim" Whatley's first summons.

Still suffering from minor ailments received during football season, several of the Catamount lettermen from the 1941 basketball team were slow in getting started. However, with routine practice and workouts, a fast breaking, accurate shooting squad began taking shape.

Due to the large number of boys reporting for basketball, it was decided to break the squad into two divisions, varsity and "B" teams. The newly formed "Kittens" outfit was then taken over by Coach Marion McDonald, and a well-balanced schedule was laid out for the "B" squad.

Opening the 1942 cage season, the Catamounts got off to a good start, turning back two conference foes before dropping a single game.

The season progressed rapidly and the golden-clad Catamounts fought their way through a highly successful year.

Entering the North State conference tournament at High Point, the Cats were eliminated in the first round of play and returned to the campus to officially close the 1942 season.

The Whatley coached aggregation played a 12-game schedule—10 of them conference, and 2 non-conference games. They emerged victors of 6 tilts—4 conference and 2 non-conference, while dropping 6 conference games.

Girls' INTRAMURALS

The girls' intramural program offers opportunity for anyone who wishes to participate in a great variety of activities—outdoor sports, indoor sports, individual sports, and team games. This program is under the direct supervision of student leaders, who are selected for each sport by the Women's Athletic Association. For proper participation in a variety of sports, through a point system, a girl is entitled to a monogram or sweater presented to her by the Women's Athletic Association.

Men's INTRAMURALS

Mr. Marion McDonald has achieved rare success in initiating an intramural program for men that has already achieved state and national recognition. This program includes a wide variety of activities which are graduated from the restricted game and contest, adapted to the needs of individuals who cannot take part in vigorous activities, to the extremely vigorous activities which challenge even the most able athlete. The organization and management of this program of intramurals is participated in by students and physical education staff members and thus provides leadership and organizing opportunity to boys who intend to follow the profession of physical education.

Last Words of the Editor

It has been our profound hope, in the 1942 CATAMOUNT, to accomplish a two-fold purpose: to recreate each experience as we knew it so that in later years we may relive our days at Cullowhee; and to combine these experiences into a story that will enable all who have never known Western Carolina Teachers College as we have to understand its traditions, purpose, accomplishments, and customs.
